ACT IV

We're excited to welcome this year's comedians to the stage:

Darryl Purvis

Originally from Antigonish, Nova Scotia, stand-up comedy was what Darryl always wanted to pursue. After graduating University, Darryl moved to Toronto and signed up for amateur night at Yuk Yuks, a comedy club located downtown. Since then Darryl has recorded his own television special, which has been performed across North America.

Jim McNally

Although Canadian and American audiences have been howling at Jim McNally for over a decade now, he is becoming more and more recognized lately after stellar performances at the Halifax Comedy Festival and on CTV's "Comedy NOW!". In 2005, he was the first comedian to get a standing ovation at Ottawa's Absolute Comedy and was asked back to headline their first anniversary weekend. The following is his 'bio blurb', which describes him pretty well, but really, you've gotta see him.

Jim is a comedian with an irreverent outlook that blends big city wit with small town cheekiness. His Irish, story-telling roots shine through in his performances which weave observations of the everyday into stories from his own life to highlight the absurdities of the world we live in. Jim's spontaneous and engaging style, quick wit, and knack for seeing the outlandish make him a natural, versatile performer who leaves audiences doubled over with laughter and wanting more.
